

Second medical opinion

Powered by

Throughout our lives, we all might have to make crucial medical decisions. Whether it is us or our loved ones, we can find that emotions and uncertainty at times, can make the decision-making process a lot more difficult. Given those circumstances, the advice of an expert doctors' international team can be very helpful for the patient.

Second medical opinion

Allianz-Tiriatic offers you the access to the Second Medical Opinion, which is provided by Teladoc. You can thus benefit from a full support in making a correct and informed medical decision.

The Second Medical Opinion offers you wide support from a team of doctors who will help you find the best alternative diagnose solutions as well as the right treatment for your case.

Dedicated consultant doctor for you

There will be a team of doctors and health professionals completely dedicated to you and that will assist you on answering any questions related to a health problem, a prescribed treatment, and/or medical examinations' results.

In case of serious illnesses or when surgery has been the recommended outcome, your case will be examined and assessed internationally by the best medical experts in the relevant area of expertise. Your case manager will guide you through the process and keep you up to date.

Team of international expert doctors

You will have quick access to an international expert doctor, who will follow your case up closely while clarifying any medical questions and guiding you throughout the whole process, always supported by the EMO international team.

Managing your medical file

Compare the diagnosis and the prescribed treatment plan and get a second opinion from the best international doctors, experts in their field. In just few days, you will receive a clear report that will help you make the right decision.